A delicious food a happy family

Our mission

To become essential to our customers by providing differentiated products and services to help them achieve their aspiration

Description of the business idea.

As a farmer, you process raw fruits or vegetables into a finished product that you can sell. Some people package value-added foods and some people sell fresh value-added foods. Examples of how to make value-added food products include: You make different types of powders out of your vegetables and pack them so as to be used later. When it comes to inventions we will be producing powder herbals from herbs trees , and make sure that they are of advantage to human consumption

New products and service

- Banana clips

The banana clips will be produced from a fresh banana, with our innovation we will dry the banana product with our driers so as to produce banana clips which can be store for six month

- Cassava, banana flour

This will be our new nutritious product to the market, it is a mixture of dried cassava and banana where by all nutrients are protected and packed for use
